

talented young people

“envisage it, believe it, achieve it!”

Daniel Landers is a young man with a talent for music. After getting his first break on PBS TV he has since gone on to take the music world by storm. Daniel is a multi-talented performer with talents as a singer, songwriter and musician. Daniel has already got a top three song under his belt in the Dutch downloads chart.

When and how did you first get interested in your chosen talent?

I started performing on the kid's TV series on PBS, "The Huggabug Club". It was an educational television series, and I was basically raised on the set of the show, prior to going on tour across the country.

Was it something you had to work hard at or did it come naturally?

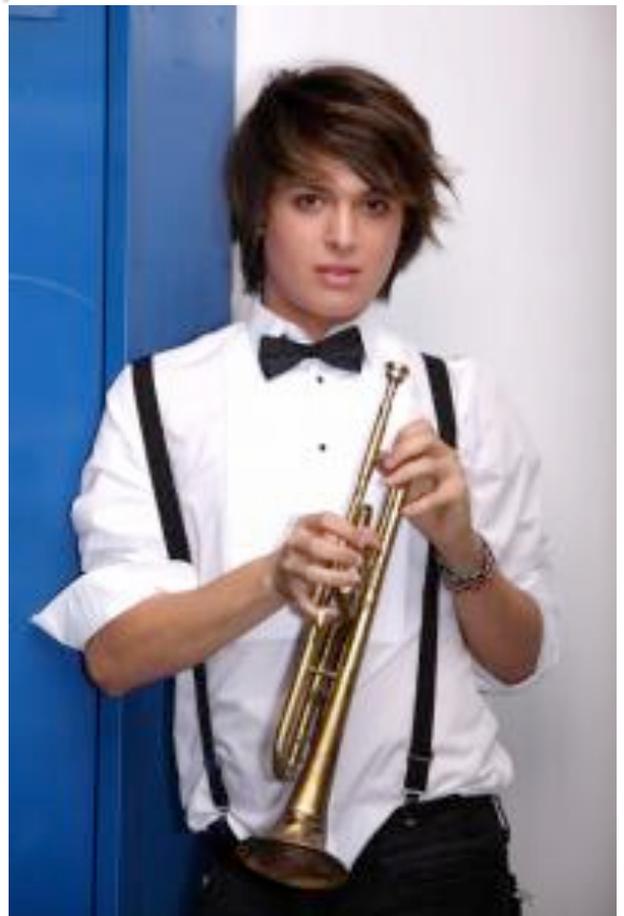

My music and performing comes to me naturally, but just as with any endeavour, hard work is always necessary in order to achieve success. I am really lucky that my mother is also a performer, and she is an awesome mentor who supports me 100%.

What level have you got yourself and your talent to so far?

One of the songs I wrote, "Find Another You" was released a few weeks ago and reached number three on the Dutch Download charts, and got to the top 100 in radio play and requests. Since then, I've been going back to Holland every week or so for shows and promotions. I'm having an awesome time.

How would you best describe yourself?

I'm definitely salty with a hint of lime - haha. But if you would prefer a description that isn't a taste, I'm edgy, driven, dedicated, and enthusiastic, with a large dose of compassion. I've been a vegetarian since I could make the decision myself at age 4, and I give my all, fully commit to everything I do.

Who are your role models or who inspires you?

My Mom is definitely one of my greatest over-all inspirations. I love Katy Perry's vibe, and Bon Jovi is one of my biggest musical influences.

What have been some of your highlights so far?

Seeing my song on the Dutch charts in between G6 and Taio Cruz has been awesome. Going to Holland for shows has been unbelievable, but performing any time, any place is the best.

How hard has it been to get where you are today?

To me, although my music is my passion and my priority, it is also challenging. The balance between music and everyday life isn't easy, but it sure is interesting, and builds great strength and character. As one of my favourite super heroes Spiderman once said, "With great power comes responsibility". Similarly, with great opportunities come challenges. There are different types of challenges and we all deal with them and see them differently.

What do you want to accomplish with your talent?

I think that a lot of people, especially teens tend to shy away for pop music. I assume that they think mainstream lacks something indie has. I completely disagree. I love making Pop/Rock music with an edge. I want to keep making fun, and catchy music that you can party to!

What are your plans for this year?

My new year's resolution is love, health, happiness, and success in all areas for me and my loved ones. Is it bad to want it all? Lol
